MISS BRYLEY IS DEPOSED

Warner, Okla., Dec. 4.—There is open rebellion in the Connors' agricultural school here today and L. H. Jackson, who succeeded Mr. Faulkner as president of the school, is having a difficult time in controlling the students who from the very start have taken the side of Miss Dorothy Bryley in her fight against O. A. Brewer and other members of the state board of agriculture. When word was received here that President Faulkner had been dismissed it was thought that Miss Bryley had come out successful in her contest with the Brewer-Elliott faction but recent developments have shown that Brewer is now absolutely in control of the board of agriculture, the members of which realize that since the Campbell Russell bill went through it is a case of all hanging together or else all hanging separately. The success of Brewer was first demonstrated when it became known that Faulkner had been succeeded as president of the Connors' school by L. H. Jackson of Helena, Okla., and that Jackson was the personal choice of Mr. Brewer. In fact, they both reside in the same city.
Otto J. Bryley of Chanute, Kans., and Senator Campbell Russell got wise to the fact that the Brewer faction had won over the opposition and that Miss Bryley was about to be deposed. Mr. Bryley went to Warner, where he was tendered a public demonstration, and when he called at the school at the close of the first period he was urged to deliver an address to the students, and this, too, over the protests of Jackson. There came near being a riot in the school room and Jackson and one of the male professors had a war of words in the presence of the entire class.
When Mr. Bryley, who is an attorney, discovered that Brewer had secured some alleged affidavits in which the moral reputation of his sister was questioned, he went to Oklahoma City and demanded that he be given permission to see these affidavits. This privilege was denied him, but he was advised that no action would be taken on them at this time. Senator Russell discovered that the affidavits bore the signatures of a doctor and a dentist who desire in Alfalfa county, and Mr. Bryley, accompanied by his sister, started for Alfalfa county last Thursday to see the parties whose signatures were on the affidavits. It was necessary to drive twenty-five miles in the country to see one of the men and then before he could be located a warrant charging him with perjury had to be issued. After being taken in custody, the man denied ever making the affidavit in which the name of Miss Bryley was used. The next day it is claimed he received a telegram from Oklahoma City, in which he was advised that he could not be held for perjury, and that Judge deGraffenried had so decided in Muskogee. The man then declined to make a counter affidavit, but said he was willing to go on record as saying that he had never signed the affidavit submitted to the board.
The activity of Mr. Bryley was communicated to the board of agriculture and while he was busy at Beaver, President Jackson received word to dismiss Miss Bryley.
Word was received here two weeks ago that Brewer and his faction had won over a majority of the members of the board and that they were a unit in demanding Miss Bryley's resignation, and when Mr. Bryley discovered that his sister's resignation had been demanded, he returned to Warner.
When school met Monday, Miss Bryley went to the school and looked after her classes as usual, although her successor was on the job. Mr. Bryley was called to Erie, Kans., Monday night and Tuesday morning when school met President Jackson declined to permit Miss Bryley to teach. Miss Bryley demanded that she be presented with a written order of dismissal and President Jackson advised her that he had received instructions by phone and wire. As Miss Bryley had some previous experience with the board members on a telephone communication she declined to surrender without seeing President Bryan's signature in writing. It is practically a holiday in Warner and Senator Russell, who is in Oklahoma City, has been advised of the situation here.
Senator Russell wired Miss Bryley to hold the fort, as her order of dismissal was of no effect, and that the state board of agriculture was out of existence when it was issued.
